Doc #: 9

Note to Readers: In the event of any inconsistency between this document and the legislation that affects homeopathic practice, the legislation governs.

College publications contain practice parameters and standards which should be considered by all Ontario homeopaths in the care of their patients and in the practice of the profession. College publications are developed in consultation with the profession and describe current professional expectations. It is important to note that these College publications may be used by the College or other bodies in determining whether appropriate standards of practice and professional responsibilities have been maintained.

POLICY

Policies set by individual clinics on fees and billing practices must be consistent with the standards of practice of the College of Homeopaths of Ontario (the "CHO").

The Registrant is accountable for the services they perform, receipts provided and the charges submitted under their name or registration number. It is the responsibility of the individual homeopath to ensure that he or she is able to maintain control over practice decisions including the fairness and accuracy of billing.

INTENT

This standard describes the College's expectations for homeopaths involved in providing care where a bill or invoice is provided to the patient or other payer.

PREAMBLE

It is a fundamental principle of health care ethics that care providers put the needs of their patients ahead of their own. This consideration is particularly important where decisions related to the costs and charges for the provision of care are required. It is essential that the fees charged to patients are reasonable, accurate, and transparently communicated to ensure that patients can make an informed choice about the financial aspects of their care.

It is acceptable to profit from ones' knowledge, education and experience, and professional judgment regarding the ethical application of fees and billing.

DESCRIPTION OF STANDARD

Fees and Billing

The Registrant establishes and maintains fair and ethical fees and billing practices by:

1. Ensuring that a fee schedule(s) is established, posted and/or documented that outlines:
 - a. the fees for initial consultation, assessment and treatment;
 - b. the fees for other services or products;
 - c. any administrative fees (e.g. charges for photocopies or reports, surcharges for late payments, etc.); and
 - d. penalties for missed or cancelled appointments.
2. Ensuring that patients are informed of the fees to be charged for homeopathic services and consent is obtained prior to treatment.
3. Ensuring that any departure from an established or documented fee schedule is used only to reduce fees. While it may be acceptable to provide consistent discounts or waiver of a fee in circumstances or hardship, it is not acceptable to increase a fee based on a patient's ability to pay.
4. Providing information to patients that includes:
 - a. information on fees and the fee schedule specific to the patient's circumstances;
 - b. the basis on how a bill for services is calculated;
 - c. any relevant financial policies and/or payment expectations; and
 - d. the acceptable methods of payment and any peculiarities of those methods.
5. Reviewing invoices and billing practices at periodic intervals in order to ensure:
 - a. the accuracy of invoices;
 - b. an understanding of the fees that are being charged for their services;
 - c. an understanding of how their registration or billing number is being used; and
 - d. that when abnormalities are discovered, reasonable steps are taken to remedy the situation.
6. Ensuring that processes exist for the timely:
 - a. notification of any balance due or owing; and
 - b. provision of applicable refunds.
7. Ensuring that the financial records are in keeping with the College standards of practice.
8. Bartering only in accordance with the Canada Revenue Agency guidelines.
9. Not charging a block fee.
10. Refraining from offering or giving a reduction in fees for prompt payment of services.
11. Documenting and displaying its policy on the purchase and redemption of vouchers or gift certificates.
12. Refraining from selling or assigning any debt owed to the Registrant. This does not include the use of credit cards to pay for professional services.

Receipts

1. Registrants shall issue a receipt in the for all payments.
2. Receipts will clearly and legibly record:
 - a. name of treating homeopath, clinic name, address, telephone number;
 - b. Registrant's registration number;
 - c. name of the patient who received the service and address;
 - d. date of service;
 - e. services billed;
 - f. payments received;
 - g. balance owing;
 - h. HST registration number, if HST charged.
3. If a replacement receipt is issued it is clearly identified as a "COPY" or "DUPLICATE".
4. Receipts will be clearly itemized. Fees for homeopathic consultation are separated from all other fees. Fees for medicine, supplements, etc., are individually listed, either on the same or another receipt.

Advertising of Fees

1. The advertisement contains accurate, complete and clear disclosure of what is and what is not included in the fee without hidden fees or costs. The public is entitled to full disclosure of what is and what is not included in the advertised fee.
2. The Registrant may not bill a third-party payor for the complimentary portion of the consultation or treatment service.
3. The advertisement expressly states the timeframe to be honoured for any complimentary or discounted service.
4. To ensure there is no confusion or misunderstanding, the advertisement must indicate the exact timeframe in which the complimentary or discounted consultation or treatment services apply.
5. No obligation is placed on the patient for follow-up appointments as a result of the complimentary or discounted service.
6. The advertisement does not limit the offer to a certain number of participants. Members of the public must all be given an equal opportunity to obtain the advertised complimentary or discounted services. An advertisement that limits an offer to a certain number of participants may be misleading.

What is a Block Fee?

A block fee is an agreed upon fee for a series of services (e.g., 10 visits or a period of time). Typically the fee is less than if the services were paid for individually, but is paid in advance. To work in everyone's interest the nature and extent of the service must be known in advance, and provide for options of refunds on a reasonable scale at the patient's request. As homeopathy takes an individualistic treatment approach without a standardized algorithm, the nature and extent of services is unknown and lacks predictable consistency. The Professional Misconduct Registration provision 20 does not permit Registrants to charge a block fee.

The fundamental basis of block fees discriminates against the individual's ability to access cheaper service based on economic status. This provision serves to protect the patients from pressure to purchase service packages, from billing disputes and from discrimination based on economic status.

Registrants are allowed to discount per service individual fees at their discretion.
